dear Mr. Harold,

Thank you so much for the response, and the much awaited books. I was dismayed to learn you are not feeling so well. You have given so much to so many - if there some way in which we can return the favour?

My sixteen year old daughter is presently working on a term paper - based very heartily on your own research - and so the struggle goes on. Have you been able to get ahold of the May 27 issue of Journal of the American Medical Assoc.? The questions posed, and to whom, are the key there. Not the answers.

I would much like to keep in touch with you. I understand you cannot always answer your mail. This does not matter - only that you read what you can. If you are at present working on a piece, I would not to take away from your precious time.

I have no autobiographical information on you. Could you either fill me in there, or direct me to a source? I am intensely interested in your background as a young man and so forth.

Again, my admiration and support ...

Dear Ms. Babyak,

We thank you for the beautiful card and the thought behind it.

These kinds of expressions do mean much to us.

I have never put any autobiographical material together. Briefly, I am a former reporter and investigative report<sup>er</sup>, US Senate investigator and editor and a war-time intelligence analyst, in the OSS.

Now I am handicapped by a number of illnesses that noth limit what I can do and take much time in doctor and hospital visits.

As I think I told you, each thing I now do is at the cost of something I'll not be able to do. So, I prefer to use as much of the time as I have in productive work that otherwise would not be done rather than engaged in pleasant correspondence.

So, I ask you please not to ask me to correspond.

I am sure you'd rather in the end have me do what I am still able to do to help establish truth.

Our thanks to you both,

sincerely,

Heider
